

BLOGGING

By Paul Carney
www.paulcarneyarts.com

Go to the web site:
www.blogger.com

You may need to create an account if you are a first time user. Don't worry, it's painless!

Click on the:
"create a blog" tab

The image shows the "Name your blog" setup page. It has a form with three main sections. The first section is "Blog title" with a text input field containing "Art Project Ideas" and a note that this title will appear on the blog and profile. The second section is "Blog address (URL)" with a text input field containing "http://artprojectideas.blogspot.com", a "Check Availability" link, and a confirmation message that the address is available. The third section is "Word Verification" which shows a distorted image of the word "jipakhbpw" and a text input field for the user to type the characters.

Give your blog a name.
Something easy and relevant to the work is an obvious idea.

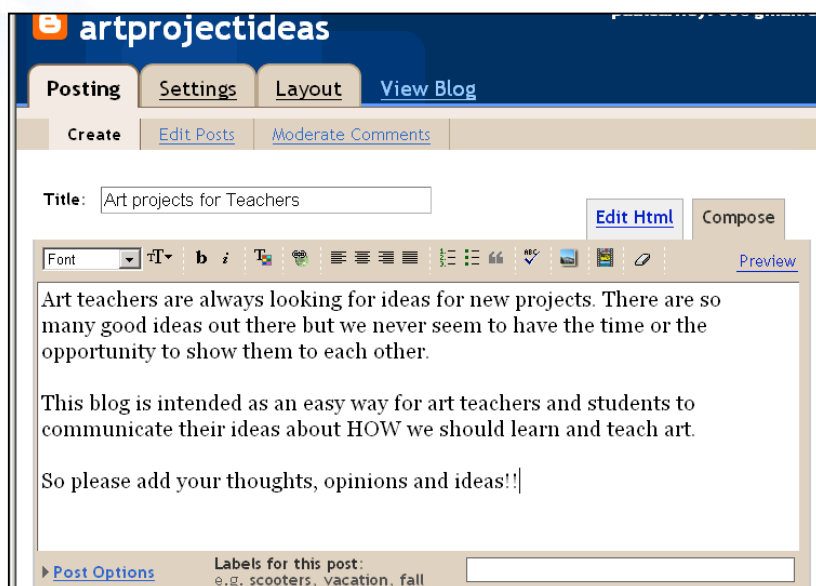

Select a template/design for the Blog

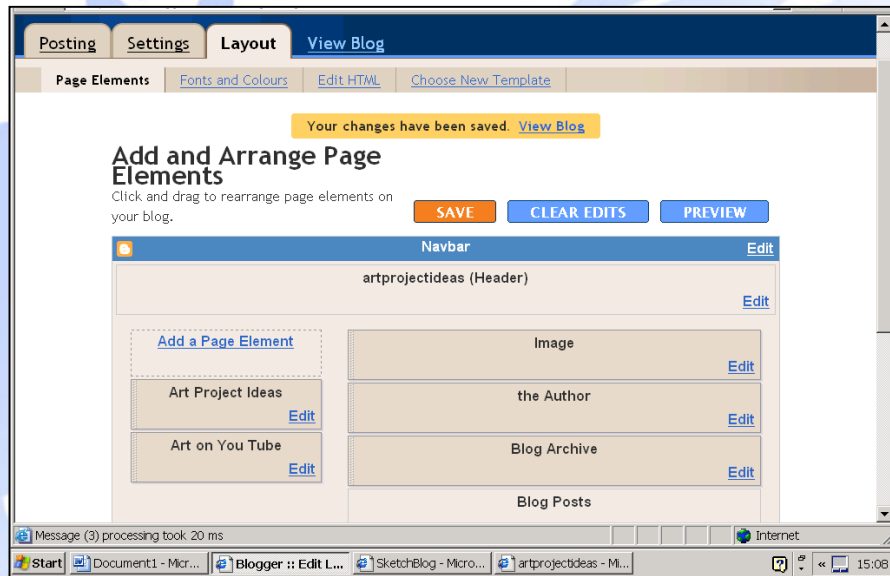

That's it done!!!

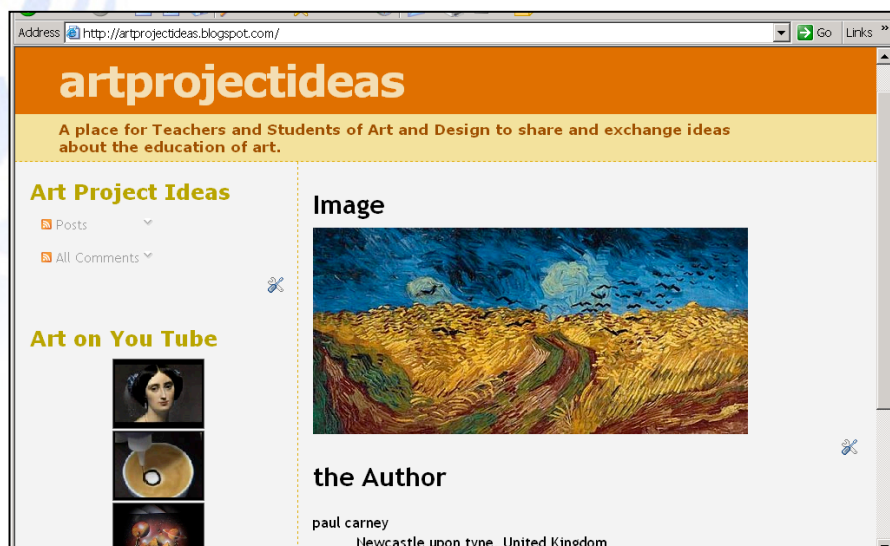

(well almost)

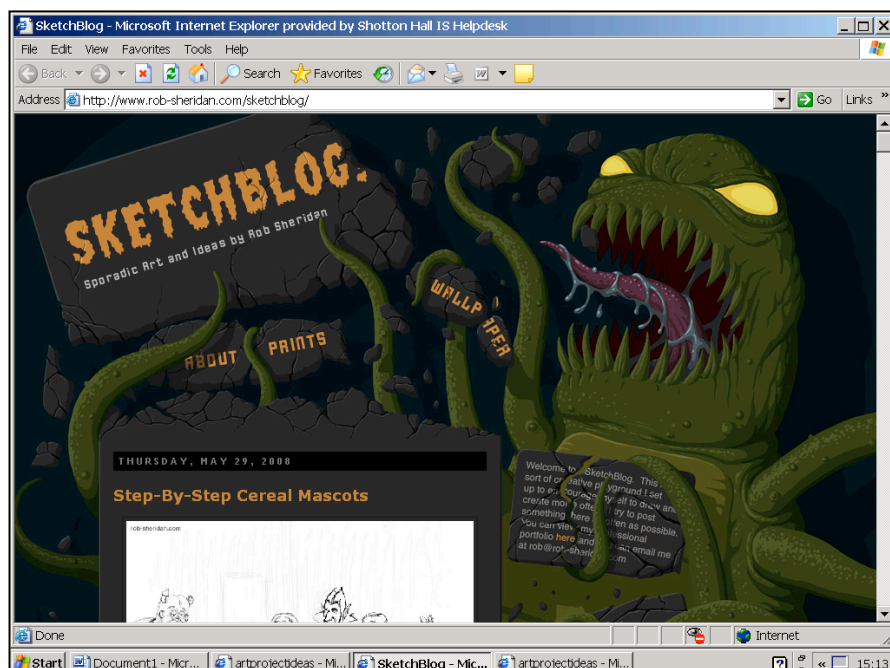

Now you have to fill it with content. So get typing!

You can select the: Layout page and start playing with images and content. Don't worry, it's not that difficult.

You can add links to images, You tube videos (relevant to your blog) Authors, musicians, web sites etc etc etc etc

When you get really good you can create Blogs like this one.

It's just about how much you put into it!